

SFPE Class Announcement: Wildland-Urban Interface Risk Assessment & Mitigation for the Fire Service

Wildland-Urban Interface Risk Assessment & Mitigation for the Fire Service is a new, premier WUI course. This one-day, eight-hour course brings science-based fire engineering research and guidance to fire service personnel operating in WUI areas.

Topics Covered

- Class Date: April 25, 2026
- Location: Moscow Fire Department 509 S Howard Moscow, ID 83843
- Course Description: A highly interactive course suitable for those with little to no prior WUI training but also contains key planning and prevention information for all experience levels.
- Certificate: Certificate of Completion from the SFPE Foundation.
- Class Size: Seats limited to 25 total.

- Overview of structural and property hardening
- Fire protection systems
- Risk assessment methods
- Models and training
- Stakeholder engagement
- Community notification and evacuation
- Codes, standards, and case studies
- Community hazard assessment
- Community design and protection
- Community education

QR CODE

Register here!

IDAHO
Fire Service
TRAINING